About the Speakers

“From Competition to Collaboration” explores the transformative journey from rivalry to partnership among women leaders. Grounded in practical insights and real-world success, this session shares strategies for fostering a collaborative culture where women leaders support and amplify each other. Attendees will gain a deeper understanding of the dynamics behind competition and the immense value of collective success.

Jessica Rimmer, PhD, CEO of Solomon Strategic Advisors, a leadership consultancy and partner agency of GiANT Worldwide. Both her experience and education bolster her ability to help organizations analyze their needs and craft unique solutions to address business challenges. Jessica has served as a speaker on topics such as strategic growth, cultural diversity, transformational leadership, and personal success. She is passionate about helping people live with vision, purpose, and influence.

Learning Outcomes:

1. Understanding the Root Cause of Competition
2. Recognize the Value of Collaboration
3. Develop Strategies for Collaborative Leadership
